

Wardle and Smallbridge History Group

Issue No. 1, October 2015

Welcome to the first edition of our occasional newsletter about the History Group.

Display of models

We're always happy to co-operate with other organisations and on 31st August some of our model buildings were on show at Whibley's Dolls House Fair and Exhibition in Shawclough. We were able to transport only a few of our smaller items, like the one shown below, but an accompanying PowerPoint display showed the rest of our amazing models of local buildings, assembled by the late Arnold Wade.

And Weavers'
Cottages*

New on the web site

Recent additions in the archive section of our web site include:

From Peter Cryer : D-day articles from the Manchester edition of the Daily Dispatch

From Ann Butterworth : a new photograph of Captain Henry Butterworth, Smallbridge veteran of the Napoleonic Wars

From David Wild : maps of Watergrove

From Peter Thwaite : colour photographs from the Bible of St James's Church, Wardle (an example opposite).

New displays

We've recently renovated three of our display cabinets, which now feature local mills. Do any of these names strike a chord with you – Rydings, Crossfield, Knowl Syke, Greengate, Lodge, Wasp, Hazlehurst, Lee, Whittakers, Alder Bank, Buckley, Rock, Riverside, New, Dobwheel?

We have photographs and further information for all these mills, with a map to show where they were located. Some artefacts from the mills are included.

We also have a new display featuring the Sandknockers of Smallbridge. If you thought that this was just the name of a no-longer-existent pub, you have a lot still to learn about the history of Smallbridge!
